HEAT WAVE IN COAST STATES CAUSES DEATH

Nine Persons Lose Lives as Result of Oppressive Temperatures

DRY SPELL LEADS TO MANY FOREST FIRES

SAF FRANCISCO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Heat that was somewhat abated in limited areas pressed down upon the Pacific Coast today from Canada to the Mexican border. At least nine deaths were reported during more than two days of high temperatures, and forests flamed like tinder in parts of California's Sierra and electrical storms varied the sun's onslaught.

Mrs. Alice Eileen Kentzel, forty-seven, of San Francisco, died at Stanford, Cal., en route to San Francisco from Yosemite Valley. She died of heat prostration after the temperature mounted to 115 degrees.

Mr. George Clementson, forty-four, of San Francisco, died at a hospital here today from heat prostration suffered earlier in the day at Willows, Cal. She was en route to Seattle with her husband, Charles B. Clementson, Union Oil Co. executive.

The death brought the toll of the two-day heat wave to nine.

RECORD TEMPERATURES

Near all-time heat records were reported from the Pacific Northwest today. At Portland, where the temperature reached 103 degrees, it was the hottest ever recorded in August, and at 10:10 a.m. when the mercury registered 104. At Medford, Ore., it was 104 during the afternoon. Hood River reported 100. Eugene reported 96, the hottest this year, and Klamath Falls 99. At Spokane the temperature was 94 at 3 p.m. and it was still rising.

RAINS BRING RELIEF

Scattered rains modified the heat wave in Southern California. A downpour in the Imperial Valley, accompanied by violent winds, followed a temperature of 119 degrees. The average maximum in the Southern California metropolis for August 15 is 82 degrees.

San Francisco was cool, with an overcast sky.

EIGHT DEATHS ADDED TO ROLL

Enemies of Old Cuban Regime Wreaking Vengeance on Supporters

HAVANA, Aug. 15 (AP)—Eight more persons met violent deaths today in post-Machado disorders as the new Government of President Carlos M. de Céspedes labored to set its political and economic house in order.

Enemies of the old regime still sought out its supporters to exercise vengeance upon them. The total number of dead was raised to thirty-five since Saturday morning.

FIRE ON PRISONERS

Several inmates of Principe Prison were burned when they were fired upon by guards and soldiers after they had protested the placing in the penitentiary of aides of the former president.

The disorders became so violent that the guard, unable to cope with the situation, summoned soldiers. Several of the prisoners were shot, and scores of others were beaten before order was restored.

Evidence became increasingly manifest today that the De Céspedes administration would have the support of other governments, and it was considered a matter of certainty.

Political Fever Runs High at Nomination Meetings Held in Several Centres

HALIFAX, Aug. 15 (CP)—The time-honored custom of political nomination meetings was observed with unusual vigor in many Nova Scotia counties today as sixty-five candidates entered the fight for thirty seats in the House of Assembly.

In Halifax City as well as Sydney, and some other centres, the formality of filling papers marked official recognition of candidates. But in most constituencies, with election day a week away, the political fever was high.

Premier Gordon S. Harrington is running in Cape Breton South (Sydney), and Angus L. MacDonald, Liberal leader, in Halifax South, where he faces Hon. Dr. G. H. Murphy, Minister of Health.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The perplexing war debt problem rose again, today, before the Roosevelt administration in official word that preliminary discussions on the subject would begin with the United Kingdom, early in October.

With another payment of $127,670,765 due from Great Britain, December 15, Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British Government, would come to Washington about October 1 to discuss the obligation.

Great Britain will probably be the first of the European debtors to negotiate for revision of agreements under which they are obligated to pay United States more than $11,000,000,000.

Proposal Made to Banking Commission to Simplify Temporary Financing at Lower Cost—U.B.C. Professor Urges Central Bank Plan

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (CP)—The City of Vancouver, through its corporation counsel, G. E. McCrossan, today presented a resolution to the Royal Commission on banking to the effect that "application be made to the Dominion Government for legislation to provide that municipalities shall have similar facilities for advances on municipal securities from the Dominion Government for temporary financing as are now given to banks under the Finance Act."

The preamble of the resolution stated that "the Dominion Government, under Section V of the Finance Act, is making advances of funds to Canadian chartered banks against municipal securities at an interest rate of 5% per cent, and a portion of these funds are in turn borrowed from the banks by cities and municipalities at interest rates of from 5% to 7 per cent." Further, that "the chartered banks are making a profit of from 2 to 4 per cent on approved provincial and municipal securities."

OTHERS IN SUPPORT Mr. McCrossan stated that the suggestion put forward by the Prince of Wales took off today from the Prince of Wales took off today from his home at Port Belvedere, near Windsor, bound for Biarritz, France.

DIRECTOR RETIRING

F. Napier Denison Has Been Director Here for Thirty-Five Years

Bringing to a close forty years' service with the Dominion Meteorological Department, and thirty-five years in Victoria, F. Napier Denison, meteorological director for Yukon, Columbia and the Yukon, with headquarters at Gonzales Observatory, will be retired at the end of this month.

His superannuation comes as a financial reward to a life devoted to scientific study that has been most beneficial to the country. He is a member of an illustrious family that for several generations has been prominently identified in the history of this Dominion, and more particularly with what was once known as Upper Canada.

NOTED SCIENTIST

Following the precept set by his self-appointed teacher to the profession of his own choosing, and with high esteem of fellow meteorologists. His inventions of meteorological instruments and his theories on weather and earthquake cycles have been followed with keen interest, not only by those in the same profession, but by those who would benefit from the products of these studies.

Mr. Denison was born in Toronto and is the son of the late Lieutenant-Colonel Robert B. Denison, of "Bellevue," who at one time was Deputy Adjutant-General of the Canadian Militia.

New Zealand Ministers and Officials Have Conversations With Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The money was understood to have been part of a sum Factor promised to pay the abductors after his release several weeks ago.

Instead, he informed authorities of the demands and, at the appointed time today, more than 300 police and Federal authorities convened themselves about the rendezvous near suburban La Grange.

PAID OVER MONEY

A policeman, disguised as a messenger boy, arrived with the ransom and was met by the kidnappers, accompanied by another detective dressed as a driver. Approached by the extortions, he handed over the money and at the same time signalled his companions waiting in ambush.

The gangmen, about seven in number, driving two automobiles, answered a command to halt with pistol fire and careened away under a volley of a police sub-machine gun.

About twenty shots were exchanged and in the general excitement the band disappeared into a nearby abandoned one small sedan. One of the men was believed to have been wounded.

Eastern Syndicate of Financial Houses Takes Option on $2,000,000 Additional—Cost Basis to B.C. Is 5.67 Per Cent

SALE of $1,000,000 of British Columbia twenty-year bonds bearing 5 per cent interest to a Canadian syndicate at $92 was announced yesterday by Hon. J. W. Jones. The syndicate, composed of A. E. Ames & Company, Wood, Gund & Company, the Dominion Securities, the Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has taken an option on a further $2,000,000 of British Columbia bonds at the same figure. The cost of the loan, Mr. Jones stated, is 5.67 per cent.

The $1,000,000 issue of twenty-five-year bonds bearing 5% per cent interest, and $2,000,000 option is exercised that further sum would go to retirement of treasury bills of the province. No borrowing for new purposes is being indulged in, and the province is living currently within its income, the Minister of Finance declared.

AT LOWER COST

The cost of the present loan, Mr. Jones pointed out, is considerably less than the 6.3% per cent paid in respect to the province's issue of $4,000,000 in February, which bearing 5% per cent interest, was sold at $97.25, or at a cost of about 5.95 per cent.

On the other hand, British Columbia is currently borrowing from both the Dominion and the bank on a 5% per cent basis, in respect to advances secured by provincial treasury bills. Treasury bills pledged for such loans last year bore 5% and 5.5% per cent interest. These are being refunded as occasion

U.S. MAKES THREAT OF WHEAT WAR IN ORIENT IF NATIONS DO NOT CURTAIL PRODUCTION

Secretary Wallace Delivers Ultimatum Requiring Agreement on Acreage Reduction by August 24 or Government Will Bonus Grain Dumping From Stocks on Pacific Coast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—If necessary to protect wheat producers from price-depressing surpluses, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said today the United States is ready to subsidize exports and to employ the "full powers" of the Farm Act.

In a formal statement, he explained this course would be followed in the event of failure by the principal wheat-producing nations to arrive at an international agreement to curb the output by August 24.

Wallace said orally, at his press conference, his programme could not properly be called "dumping." He said he understood the word to mean the sale abroad at sacrifice prices of quantities of a product in excess of normal exports. His intention, instead, he added, is to bring the exports of American wheat up to the normal movement of the past.

DUMP INTO ORIENT "I would call it a normalized exportation," he explained. In response to questions, however, he said his programme likely would produce anti-dumping regulations from European countries.

The sale of surplus quantities of wheat to the Orient is now chiefly under consideration, he continued, explaining Oriental countries do not have anti-dumping regulations.

The secretary issued his statement after receiving a report from Henry Morgenthau, Sr., American delegate to the Geneva and London wheat conferences.

He said Morgenthau told him the United States offered to make a acreage reduction in its wheat acreage for the next two years if the three other large exporting countries, Canada, Australia, and Argentina also would reduce their production.

United States was ready to agree each country should be at liberty to choose its own method of reduction and agreed to accept control of wheat exports and diversion of excess wheat to other uses in lieu of acreage reduction. Wallace said after his conference with Morgenthau.

ASK PROTECTION

Morgenthau reported other exporting countries insisted before they would enter into a programme with United States. European importing nations must agree to reduce restrictions against wheat imports and to cease further efforts to expand wheat production.

The Government, he said, would lead to armed clashes between the National Guard and Government forces with possibly serious results.

Instead, he announced the blue shirts would assemble in various districts and, after a two-minute silence in honor of the memories of Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Kevin O'Higgins, prominent leaders in the movement which resulted in formation of the Free State.

The Government of President Eamon de Valera decided today to establish a military tribunal to deal with political offences, under the terms of the Public Safety Act. A round-up of all firearms, held without authorization, was begun by the Government.

GRAIN PRICES ARE PEGGED AT WINNIPEG

Minimums Placed On All Futures to Halt Flood of Selling

DECISION MADE AT EMERGENCY SESSION

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15 (CP)—Pegged minimum prices, for the first time in the history of the exchange, today were imposed on all grain futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, in an effort to halt debacles of selling brought on as Chicago traders poured selling orders into the local pit.

Members of the exchange, meeting in emergency session before the market opened today, decided to set as a minimum the selling prices of Monday, August 14. All bids and offers privileges were cancelled or suspended for the time being.

MOVE IS TEMPORARY

At the same time confidence was expressed the drastic and unprecedented move would be only temporary. Exchange officials decided stability would develop at Chicago shortly, and that the restrictions imposed on trade here could be removed before long.

their behalf, wheat prices bounded upward as the opening gong rang, half an hour late. Much of the initial gain was lost, but the close saw wheat futures 13-8 to 17-8 cents higher delivered, finished at 71-2. Decatur wheat, 73-2, and Strength at Liverpool and export business of around 1,000,000 bushels were heartening factors.

UNITED FURTHER NOTICE

A resolution, passed unanimously by the exchange, said the pegging measure was necessary "due to abnormal conditions surrounding other factors" and the detrimental effect such conditions "might have" as far as producers were concerned. It was to remain in effect until further notice.

Action of Chicago traders in pouring selling orders into the Winnipeg market for the past three sessions brought the situation to a head. Prices slumped twelve cents between Thursday night last and Monday night.

EMERGENCY ACTION

Sydney T. Smith, president of the exchange, said the emergency thus created called for emergency action and the fixing of a minimum price seemed the most satisfactory way to deal with it. The exchange held, however, expressed his firm belief in the open market.

The force is making an extreme effort on behalf of the West, he said. "Mr. Smith, Development of good roads being the main item, the exchange is taking a stand on the stump as taken as an indication that Canadian futures prices were not out of line with those of other countries.

The force, then known as "Sons of the Queen," and only 300 strong at the outset, marched in 1874 right across the prairies from the Red River in Manitoba to the Rocky Mountains, the entire march being over 2,000 miles and through country which was then in part unknown. The force was so impressed that a series of truces were concluded, and the Government was enabled to assume effective control of the Indians.

HAD MANY DUTIES

In addition to discharging police duties and undertaking much executive work, such as guarding against prairie fires in the early days, visiting lonely settlers, and much other responsibility, the force had a share in military duties. The original march across the prairies was a military task performed in a military manner. During the Riel Rebellion of 1885 in Western Canada, the force took an active part; a number of officers and men were sent to the South African War; two squadrons for service in France and Belgium, and one for Siberia, were furnished during the Great War.

The present force of 2,500 officers and men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is now distributed in the way best suited to perform its many and varied duties. It is found along the international boundary, where it aids in protecting the frontier, in the control of undesirables. It is located on or near Indian reserves to maintain good order and to aid in the enforcement of laws.

IN MANY LONELY POSTS

It members occupy many lonely posts in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, as well as along the Arctic and Hudson Bay coasts.

It is found in centres of population where there is an indication of trouble arising likely to affect the peace and well-being of the country.

The boy was trapped in a manger as the flames of unknown origin razed the barn and all other farm buildings except the house.

WILLOWS, Cal., Aug. 15 (CP)—Five prisoners laid Glenn County's new $60,000 jail as a place to board, but they found it a trifle too confining. Sheriff Roy Head said they had to move from a more handle and took turns going to bed at night to visit friends, always returning in time for breakfast. The sheriff said they now would face charges of jail-breaking.

TWO CYCLISTS BADLY INJURED

William Hitch and George Hutchison Are Taken to Jubilee Hospital

Two cyclists were injured in two different accidents, yesterday, while a woman motorist narrowly escaped injuries in a third. William Hitch, address unknown, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital suffering from a fractured right ankle. George Hutchison, of Coville Street, Saanich, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital suffering from an injured neck, and numerous cuts and bruises.

Mr. Hitch was cycling down a hill on Coville Street when his machine got stuck in a rut and ran down a six-foot embankment. The rider was thrown from his machine and his head struck the wooden sidewalk. The inside of his mouth was badly cut, in addition to numerous other bruises and abrasions. The exact injuries to his neck are not known. He was taken to the hospital in the C. & C. ambulance.

HIGHLY HONORED

He is a member of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada and highly regarded among scientists for his study of weather cycles and earthquake cycles.

In the former research he was well advanced, having completed many intensely interesting charts showing the weather movement in cycles of seven years. He also has done a little private predicting to test the efficacy of his theory, and his first test was most gratifying. This was last year, when he predicted an unusually wet period. He has also tested the results of meteorological records for 1933 to see if they correspond with his forecast for this year based on the seven-year cycle charts.

COLLIDES WITH AUTO

Mr. Hitch was riding a bicycle near the intersection of Gorge Road and Douglas Street when his machine came into collision with a car driven by H. Rose, of 754 Fisgard Street. He was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance.

Mrs. L. A. Senkler, 2505 Orchard Avenue, crashed her machine into a cluster of trees standard on the north side of Broughton Street between Douglas and Blanshard Streets, when attempting to avoid two other motor cars.

was appointed assistant observer at the Toronto Observatory. From 1890 to 1891 he studied electrical engineering at Boston and Lynn, Mass., realizing that the use of electricity would become an important factor in meteorological work. During the next four years to 1893, he engaged in electrical engineering in the United States and Canada in order to gain practical experience that might be of value in his scientific research work. He returned to the Toronto Observatory.

He was appointed weather forecaster and observer in Victoria. He designed the existing observatory and was appointed its director in 1914.

In addition to his multitudinous duties at the observatory, Mr. Denison found time to prepare several important papers for presentation to the International Seismological Congress at Manchester, England, in 1911; the British Association for the Advancement of Science meetings at Toronto, Glasgow, Winnipeg and Dover, and also at the recent Pacific Science Congress held here and in Vancouver.

STEIN INVENTIONS

During his term as director he invented several valuable instruments, which he has had installed in the observatory, which stand as a monument to his enterprise in the field of science. Most recent of these inventions is a seismograph, which is of immense value in protecting him and avoid disasters.

The instrument is set up in mine shafts so that imminent earthquakes may be recorded and the working crews warned to leave the workings in time. The instrument has been tested in British Columbia and has been adopted by the Provincial Department of Mines as standard safety equipment.

Questioned yesterday with regard to his retirement, Mr. Denison confirmed the report, but said he did not know who would be sent here to replace him. As director for 20 years he had 200 weather stations under his supervision, including the large one in Vancouver.

STEEL INDUSTRY OPPOSED TO N.R.A.

Dispute Follows Efforts From Washington to Line Up Big Producers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The long-standing issue between the captains of industry and labor over the United States Industrial Recovery Act broke into the open today with President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, angrily denouncing spokesmen of the great steel plants.

Charging representatives of the steel industry to the N.R.A. conference with Secretary Frances Perkins because he was present, Green told newspapermen he regarded the action as "a challenge to the Government."

The conference was called to adjust contracts, and to consider provisions of the pending steel code.

Dispute developed almost concurrently with a renewed effort on the part of General Johnson to reach out and bring into the N.R.A. fold the four major industries, coal, steel, oil and automobile.

Sinclair Has Rough Ride Down Mountain To Scorching Plain

Finds Bus Fare Higher Than He Had Hoped and Marvels at the Strength of Coolie Women in Madras

By GORDON SINCLAIR

MADRAS. — Mountain thunder roared around mist-bathed peaks today as I started the long mid-Asian trek from the plain plains to tribal lands where Baluchistan brigands guide and guard the treasure-laden caravans from Persia.

Slipping and slopping around blood-colored uplands boulders, our pre-war benzine buggy looked like a camel from "Arabian Nights."

Ordinary buses roll down the mountain side in a hill-backed line, but this time the buses were all chartered and a sepulchral-looking black car clattered up for my kit.

"Who else rides?" Rep. Bennett demanded. "A salib." This came running out of a painted face only a blind mother could have seen.

"Just one salib?" "Yes, just one."

"It might do," Bennett said to me. "But you can't trust these people as far as you'd throw a horse. Don't pay until you get down. If they start crowding you with Hindus and hampers, only pay but fare."

That was swell in theory, but as soon as we got around the first bend the man in the black beard jabbed a fat hand into my ribs and demanded ten rupees.

He spat a crimson streak, turned a haughty eye on me and said, "No petro! No petro no ride. No money no petro."

PAY BEFORE STARTING

That seemed to settle it all, so I dashed out a crisp baby-blue picture of George the First, Emperor of India. He might be a king to one and he might be George the Fifth. But here's the First, and he's just one more king.

The Sikh tucked the bill into his shirt and made a bee line for a shop. He came out with two tins of gasoline, a blind boy, a Gurkha with a fat knife on a red string, a naked woman, only showing the mark of the virgin, a railway cop in a scarlet turban, a Brahmin priest and a knife grinder.

The knife grinder looked, sounded and smelled like a billy-goat. They set him next to me, and during the thinnest of chit-chats the chutie which only took us a mile and a half from where we started, he hung quivering to his grinding machine as we skidded in the red mud. They nicked me twice as much cash as all the others combined.

Sometimes the banks dropped straight quarter mile down into the deep grass; and once, while skirting such a trick spot, two girls came shrieking from the red skirts. The car drew up with a jerk, the Brahmin peeled a banana, cast a baleful eye on me, then tossed it away. We waited perhaps two minutes, then, with a muffled boom, dynamite went off and great walls of rock came tumbling down.

Women leaped on the rock and cleared a path through it so we could keep on dropping. They carried loads I couldn't even lift. And when we came to a tiny village perched over a ravine, crimson-clad coolie girls were making little rocks out of big ones, while straw bosses—all men—sat in the shade. As we came near, one of these got up and blew a whistle. All young coolie girls downed their sledges and started for the jungle. Soon twenty-two of them came back (I counted them) fondling velvet-eyed little Hindu hooligans.

The girls lined the new road they were making to show off their little legs in sunbathing. Then just as the plains came into view, heat rolled up in great billowing waves which most knocked me into a tailspin. It was like stepping from an ice box into a cremation furnace. Simply appalling.

The carburetor coughed and sputtered then, and when we got down on the level it was taken apart. Fat, oily monkeys came and poked their noses into the engine and played tag on the roof.

A NARROW ESCAPE. Adjusted to the heat, the car roared north like a warhorse. Goats, water buffaloes, pilgrims to or from Madura, roadside story-tellers and teachers paddled past in the thin dust. Once we swung over a bridge where a boy ducked across in front of us. I thought sure we'd kill him, but the driver did a mad dive toward the ditch and missed as the boy sprawled face first in the water.

Everybody in the car screamed and shouted. The Gurkha climbed out and cuffed the kid's ears. Two others spat right in his face. It was dark when we rolled into the station. A gloomy yellow light flickered in an oil pot as a thin boy hurriedly cleaned the station. On the wall was a showcase full of tinned foods. I stood picking out Canada's share in that case when a monkey came in and tugged coaxingly at my leg. I shook him off. He tugged some more. I shook him off again. He crawled across my knee and went out sprawling. Probably wanted me to buy him peanuts, popcorn or something.

TWO-HOUR WAIT FOR TRAIN. Trains seemed to be coming and going every few minutes, but I had to wait two hours for the Colombo boat train.

Every time I sat down outside, the monkeys came around looking for eats. Finally I kept on walking up and down.

When our train finally squealed in, we were late. The boy I had a ticket, but no reservation, and there didn't seem room for a magician's rabbit to squeeze in. A coolie girl, anxious to get an extra cent or two, had loaded all my kit on her head and kept following me up and down like Mary's little lamb. I looked for a spot to bed down.

Then out of a darkened room came a yell: "Eh, amigo, hola! Estupido! Espaol!" "Eh, amigo, hola!"

"Si," I grinned. "Comprendo. Espanol poco, muy poco."

The coolie girl passed the kit inside to the mysterious Spaniard whom I couldn't see. He was a Jesuit priest and shared a room with another, a Frenchman with the German name of Richter. With the German, a fool, suffered illnesses we not alone pretty bad and rolled through the velvet black night in a midsummer sandstorm. By morning I'd probably eaten a peak of India.

CHANGES SLIGHT IN OLD COUNTRY. A complete story of a day's activity in camp was displayed, the boys preparing breakfast for the early visitors and showing how a Scout conducts himself at a bonfire in the evening before bed time.

Many important competitions for the scouts are held daily and some sharp, good-natured rivalries are seen. Other matters which are proving popular are tent-raids, swimming and boating in E. G. Beaumont's large lake, which is an anechoic in the bay.

The camp has complete first aid facilities in the event of any accident taking ill suddenly. The tent is in charge of Dr. R. H. Wiggins.

Jags: "Doctor, my wife has insomnia very badly. She very often remains awake until 2 o'clock in the morning. What shall I do for her?"

Doctor: "Go home earlier."

CANNOT OBTAIN IMPOSSIBILITIES

Mayor of Nanaimo Unable to Satisfy Unemployed Men "On Strike"

NANAIMO, Aug. 15.—Married men here are on strike since Aug. 1 since August 1 and have refused to take cheques which have been waiting for them in the City Hall. They, after the first of the month were supposed to work for the portion of relief money furnished by the Government. This they claimed was insufficient to feed a living man. Monday night a delegation waited on the City Council with a long list of resolutions and asked that the Mayor accompany a delegation of unemployed to Victoria to lay resolutions before the Government.

IMPOSSIBLE REQUESTS

Amongst them was a request that Government be increased fifty per cent. Mayor Moore said most of the resolutions were asking for impossibilities and he would not accompany the delegation on these grounds. Also amongst requests made was free medical treatment paid for by the Government. The spokesman stated one doctor in the city was not available and had no books for relief work and could not carry on further. The hospital, too, was over $9,000 in debt. No steps were taken regarding the requests of the delegation. Alderman Inkster ended the discussion by remarking that the citizens were not men out of work. If they refused these and wished to stage a hunger strike the Council could not help it.

The account for the month of August totalled $6,500 were ordered paid.

The City police will be instructed to stop people inside the city limits from lighting fires on beaches as they constitute a menace during the dry spell.

AN ANNIVERSARY WORTH REMEMBERING

Fifty-five years ago today, in an election address in the city of Toronto, Sir John Macdonald made an announcement of the very first importance to the young Dominion. It was no ordinary occasion. A general election was due to take place within a month. The chieftain had determined to trust his political future to the success of a certain fiscal policy. The effects of that announcement have been continuously felt and can be readily traced throughout Canadian history ever since. They are visible about us at the present moment.

To understand the full significance of Sir John's announcement on that notable occasion it is necessary to take brief but comprehensive glance at the history of the previous decade or a little longer. The famous Treaty of Reciprocity with the United States, which had been arranged in 1854, was abrogated in 1866. This treaty had been of real service to both countries and especially to Canada. It had provided Canadian farmers and fishermen with a profitable market for their goods. Why was it abrogated? For three reasons chiefly, to any one of which it is not easy to assign the primacy. Internal taxation due to the war pressed heavily in the States and there arose a strong demand for a protective tariff which should also provide a revenue and reduce internal taxation. Moreover, there was among the Americans a good deal of ill-feeling towards Great Britain and Canada on account of British sympathy for the South during the war. There was also a desire on the part of the Americans to absorb British North America into the big republic, and it was thought that this would be most easily accomplished by making Canada a hard country to live in.

Accordingly the reciprocity arrangements came to an end and Canada was faced with the task of setting her own tariff in order. From that date until 1879 the Canadian tariff was based on the idea of cutting down the duties on manufactured goods, reducing the cost of living and the price of labor, and giving Canadian manufacturers low taxes, low labor cost, and cheap raw materials. Sir A. T. Galt, who wrote the tariff schedules, believed that with these advantages Canada could compete in world markets.

The period between the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty and the inauguration of the National Policy falls into two parts. Under Galt's revenue tariff Canada enjoyed a brief period of prosperity. In 1873, however, a great world depression began, following the financial crisis of that year. The depression was severely felt in Canada. Her shipping lay idle, lumber could find little sale in the United States, trade was bad, there was much dumping of goods upon the Canadian market, and when Canadian manufacturers found that they could not retain their hold on their own markets, to say nothing of winning markets abroad, they began to demand protection by means of higher tariffs.

As early as March, 1876, Sir John A. Macdonald introduced in the House of Commons a resolution affirming that it was necessary to readjust the tariff so as to afford protection to the country's industries. During the summer, Sir John made many speeches throughout the country, strongly advocating protection. It was not, however, until the sixteenth of August, 1878, just fifty-five years ago, that he took the important step of declaring that if he were returned to power in the approaching election he would inaugurate a policy of protection for Canada. This promise proved acceptable to the electors. Sir John was returned to office by a decisive majority, and when Parliament assembled his promise was fully implemented by the formal inauguration of the policy known to this day as the National Policy, a fiscal measure which, though it has been a target of attack for two generations, has this to its credit that no government, Liberal or Conservative, has ventured to make any fundamental alteration in it from that day to this.

It is a far cry to John A. and his election address in Toronto in 1878. There were other exciting events occurring about the same time.

That very year, D'Israeli, recently raised to the peerage, brought back "Peace with Honor" from the Berlin Congress. The Queen had, the previous year, been made Empress of India. The next year saw the Zulu War. Young people to whom all this is ancient history may be surprised to learn that the world was really a quite interesting place even in those days.

MR. HUMFREY MICHELL, M.P.

Mr. Humfrey Michell, Labor M.P. for Hamilton East, spent several weeks in Russia recently. As might have been expected, he was interviewed by the newspapers in London while on his way home, and what he has said about Russia has attracted some attention. It is safe to say that when he returns to Canada and gives a detailed account of his investigations in Russia his completed story, if it bears out the promise of the sketch he gave to the London reporters, will be listened to in Canada with even more interest and attention, if possible.

It is well known that Russia is the spiritual home of the Regnald revolutionaries, the Garden of Eden where the capitalistic serpent is unknown, the Elysian Fields where harmony reigns, where comrades dwell together in unity and in the ineffable peace which has succeeded the triumphant close of the glorious Marxian Class War. It will be remembered that at the C.C.F. convention at Regina last month certain regulations were passed with the view of securing party discipline. The comrades were forbidden to take any action or express any views likely to prove prejudicial to the welfare of the "movement." Mr. Michell might be described as one of Mr. Woodsworth's lieutenants but for the fact that Socialists are, in theory at least, equalitarians, and there is no such barbarous thing as rank and subordination among the comrades. What, then, will happen if Mr. Michell repeats in Canada what he is reported to have said in London?

He will run the risk of being excommunicated with bell, book and candle.

In the real Russia, the Russias not of dream but of actual fact, as Mr. Michell saw it, the labor conditions are such as Canadians would simply not stand. He told of hungry, white-faced men, women, and children with distended bellies crowding around the train at every station, begging for money or food; of the traditional dried fish and cabbage soup that hundreds of starving creatures in Kharakov and Kiev would have been thankful for, but were unable to obtain; of the bread and water—"and sometimes less than that"—which formed their subsistence when they could get it.

After visiting Germany, Poland and Russia and finding that in Germany "every trace of individual liberty has been destroyed," that Poland is "an armed camp," that in Russia "you cannot take a breath without realizing that liberty as we know it is non-existent." Mr. Michell gives expression to his sentiments in the fervent words, "Now I say thank God for Canada!"

Reports unfavorable to the Russian experiment are no new thing. Competent observers have been there before. The practice of Canadian revolutionaries has been to denounce these observers as the agents and tools of the capitalists. It will not be an easy task, however, to explain Mr. Michell away. Mr. Woodsworth will probably preserve a discreet silence in the meantime, but Mr. Michell cannot be ignored. "Things are bad in Russia," says Mr. Michell; "when I say this back home some of them won't like it, but it's the truth."

TOO MUCH OFFICE SEEKING

An Eastern newspaper says that British Columbia faces the most uncertain election contest in its history. That is absolutely true, and the more the pity that it is true. Political aspirants are telling the people of a score and one crises that exist in our political history. The greatest crisis of all is that opinion should be so divided and sub-divided that anything in the nature of unified effort by the people as a whole to assist in the making of British Columbia, and incidentally themselves, prosperous, seems out of the question.

Obviously there never was a time when various groups were thinking so much of attaining political office and so little of doing what is best for the province in which they live. An element of thought which largely comprises the "silent vote" has been reduced to a state of apathy because of the tumult of political opinions. That "silent vote" should make itself heard on the hustings as well as at the polls. It has a stake, a very considerable stake, in British Columbia. Apathy will never lead anywhere. The radical elements seeking office as an outcome of the forthcoming contest are banking on the apathy of those people who heretofore have decided elections in this province. They see both the main political parties suffering defections in their ranks. A rattled mentality among the voters as a whole creates the opportunity for political free-for-all. It creates, too, the opportunity for the multiplication of political parties and of candidates, some of whom represent nobody but themselves.

Possibly ten weeks or so will elapse before a vote is taken in this province. The time is slipping away and but little of a tangible character has been done to compose political differences. No appeal has been made for concentration on the task of thinking first in terms of British Columbia and then upon a course which will be in the best interests of the province. There is still that opportunity and what is wanted is a definite lead, an appeal that purely political aspirations should be sunk and that as a result of the next provincial election this portion of the Dominion, by the character of the Government will have, will be prepared, so far as provincial policies can be ordered, to take its rightful place in the era of reconstruction of which there are so many evidences at hand.

Happiness never lays its finger on its pulse. If we attempt to steal a glimpse of its features, it disappears—Alexander Smith.

Let us not disdain glory too much—nothing is finer, except virtue. The height of happiness would be to unite both in this life.—Chateaubriand.

Great grief makes sacred those upon whom its hand is laid. Joy may elevate, ambition glorify, but sorrow alone can consecrate.—Horace Greeley.

International Body to Probe Reichstag Fire

Investigation Will be Held Simultaneously With Trial of Marinus van der Lubbe, Self-Confessed Incendiary and Accomplices

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

PARIS.—An international group of eminent writers, scientists and jurists has decided to hold a public meeting either in Berlin or Paris to probe into the circumstances surrounding the burning of the German Reichstag building. The inquiry is to be held simultaneously with the trial before the high state of Leipzig of Marinus van der Lubbe, the self-confessed incendiary, and his alleged accomplices, a German member of Parliament Torgler and the three arrested Bulgarian revolutionaries, Dimitrov, Popov and Tanoff.

Among the prominent Europeans who are to participate in the inquiry are Lord Marie, vice-president of the House of Lords; Maitre Campinchi, Torelli, and De Martino, members of the International Commission of the Paris peace conference; the three noted living luminaries of the Parisian bar; Egon Erwin Kisch, the Czechoslovakian writer; Andre Gide, world-known French novelist; Professors Prenant and Wallon of the Sorbonne University and several other well-known jurists from Holland and France, Britain, Germany and Scandinavia. The chairmanship of the inquiry is to be offered to M. Emile Vandervelde, Belgian Minister of State and former Minister of Justice, who once defended the socialist revolutionaries in Russia. American participants in the inquiry include Theodore Dreiser, who does Popov, Upton Sinclair and Sherwood Anderson. Whether any of these men will actually take seat in the inquiry is not known.

This parallel inquiry was decided upon after the refusal of the German Government to have Torgler, Dimitrov, Popov and Tanoff represented by foreign counsel before the Leipzig court. Three famous French lawyers had namely volunteered to plead the case of the accused men.

ter writing this letter and is still in jail.

The names of several men who actually took part in the incendiary plot have been learned. Herr Otto Katz, "We have also succeeded in getting hold of the actual plan to fire the building in which all the details are indicated. We have the fullest possible information on the life and career of Marinus van der Lubbe, the young Hollander, who was caught only in trou- sers, when the first smoke issued from the building. From his relatives in Leyden and from a number of other sources we have an exact picture of van der Lubbe's movements during the ten days preceding the fire. We know the name of every person he came in contact with during that time."

TUNNELS UNDER BUILDING
The author is in the gathered evidence, which I am allowed to inspect, seened photograph of the Reichstag's subterranean galleries with the passages leading to Herr Goering's official residence, which he occupied as "Speaker" of the German Imperial Parliament.

It will be recalled that the Reichstag fire, which occurred on February 27, coincided with the inauguration of the repressive activities of the Hitler regime in Germany and that the Chancellor described it as the opening act of a Communist uprising.

The date for the Leipzig trial, which has tentatively been announced several times, is not definitely known at present. The German authorities, however, are being bombarded with protests by labor organizations and by the various leagues for the rights of man. Especially in French labor circles sentiment is running high and the protest action is taking on an ever more acrimonious character.

Million Dollar Fire Sweeps Cornwall

SAID to have started when careless persons left some rubbish burning in a backyard, fire recently razed the entire business section of Cornwall, Ont., doing damage estimated at $1,000,000. Fanned by a high wind, the fire soon got out of control, and firemen were called from Ottawa and Montreal, although volunteer firemen, after five hours' battle, succeeded in mastering the flames before the out-of-town brigades arrived. Above, at top, is shown Pitt Street, with the fire at its height. In centre is seen a section of the ruins, and below, the tangled wreckage of several stores, still smoldering.

JOHN LAWSON PASSES AWAY

Resident of British Columbia for Fifty Years Dies After Long Illness

John Craig Lawson, for fifty years a resident of British Columbia, died at St. Joseph's Hospital early last evening after a long illness. The man, a portion of whose history in this province was spent in the city of Victoria, where he leaves two sons, William H. and Stanley E. Lawson.

The late Mr. Lawson was born in Strathavon, Scotland, on Aug. 8, 1858, and came to Canada in 1882. During his first years in the Dominion he resided in Manitoba, later moving to the Pacific Coast, where he remained until his death.

He was engaged for many years in the brewing business, first with the firm of Loewen & Erb, in Victoria, and later in partnership with J. H. Haenefritz & Co., the brewing firm of Haenefritz & Lawson.

The late Mr. Lawson was a widower for many years, his wife having died in 1916.

Rev. H. S. Luttrell will officiate at the funeral service and interment will take place in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. Other details will be announced later.

RAIL EMPLOYEES URG TO ACCEPT WAGE REDUCTIONS

road employees' per-hour rates of compensation, even after the application of the second deduction of 10 per cent, had increased on the average 60 per cent over the rates of pay in effect in 1916. . . . It should be remembered that, in so far as a comparison may be made with other employees in Canada, railway employees have fared favorably.

CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED

Concluding, the statement says: "The railways are seeking in the wage deduction to meet existing conditions and the new rates for calculating pay are being prepared so consideration may be given to a lowering of the present rate of deduction as soon as conditions warrant. The management are not without hope the employees will recognize the facts of the situation and will accord the companies the co-operation they so gravely need."

SUBSIDIES TO SHIPPING HIGH

Banff Conference Delegates Suspicious of Large Merchant Fleets

BANFF, Aug. 15 (CP)—Round-table conferences at the fifth biennial convention today of the Institute of Pacific Relations discussed the burning question with opinions expressed. Delegates were seeking merchant marines in the event of another war.

Other points developed at the round table included the fact governments also want a lower cost of transportation with the effect of lowering the cost of commodities and they also wish to capture markets and shipping.

Shipping subsidies, the meetings showed, could not be regarded as a help to an infant industry, but might contribute to a higher standard of living. The Japanese expressed the opinion, however, if it were not for subsidies Japan could not boast of her present mercantile service with its modern ships.

Trend of the discussions, held to argue the distinctions between conflicts and disputes, tends to show United States subsidized to show New Zealand shipping to hold this sphere of the industry against Great Britain. Discussions also revealed United States, in subsidizing the Dollar Lines and the Australian ship, the "Empress of Australia," this portion of the fleet in the Pacific.

According to the round-table discussions, it was believed Japanese and United States Governments were spending more money than they could afford.

Both ministers expressed their satisfaction with the friendly nature of the discussion, and especially with the encouraging and sympathetic views voiced by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Forbes and Mr. Masters will arrive in Boston on Thursday and will confer with the leading firms dealing in New Zealand wool.

some of their products for lines of American goods of a special nature, and to the mutual benefit of both countries.

The market of New Zealand wool in the United States and the problem of augmenting sales was closely studied, while other main New Zealand products were analyzed and discussed.

Both ministers expressed their satisfaction with the friendly nature of the discussion, and especially with the encouraging and sympathetic views voiced by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Forbes and Mr. Masters will arrive in Boston on Thursday and will confer with the leading firms dealing in New Zealand wool.

really to help in solving the problem, he said.

Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of The Minneapolis Tribune, one of the American experts at the conference, will represent this country when the conference reconvenes at London, Wallace said; adding:

SET THE LIMIT

"We will stand ready to participate in any reasonable plan which the other three great exporting countries will accept.

"We shall wait until August 24 to see if they can reach an agreement for definite action before we announce our wheat reduction for next year."

If the other exporters will not co-operate we, fortunately, do have the Agricultural Adjustment Act, and shall use its full powers to protect American wheat producers.

"In such a case we will make less reduction in acreage than if other countries are not willing with us; we will maintain our wheat production incomes through benefit payments; and we will move out of the country, burdening surpluses of wheat, such as that now existing on the Pacific Coast."

And a veritable party dish it is! Your family will thrill to the fresh, new nut-like flavor of curly, golden "Grape-Nuts" Flakes. Give them this splendid treat tomorrow. And remember, as you do so, that a single serving with milk or cream supplies more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal. Your grocer has "Grape-Nuts" Flakes and also that grand old favorite "Grape-Nuts" Cereal. Both are made in Canada from Canadian wheat and malt.

PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Esquimalt Wedding Is Attractive

The wedding of Monica, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burt, Orillia Street, and Mr. Thomas White, McKenzie Street, son of the late Mrs. Ellen O'Connell, of Vancouver, was solemnized yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the Queen's Hotel. The bride was conducted by Rev. Father A. B. Wood, and the service with Leonidas and William Duncan as altar boys.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pretty frock of blue net over taffeta, with a matching taffeta jacket and a blue picture hat. She carried a bouquet of carnations, sweet peas and Ophelia roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Margaret Burt, in a dainty frock of pale pink, a large hat, who carried a bouquet of mauve and pink sweet peas and Ophelia roses.

Her mother was the bride, and Rev. Father A. B. Wood conducted the service with Leonidas and William Duncan as altar boys.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pretty frock of blue net over taffeta, with a matching taffeta jacket and a blue picture hat. She carried a bouquet of carnations, sweet peas and Ophelia roses.

For the occasion the church had been attractively decorated with sweet peas and other flowers, intermixed with ferns. Miss Wanda Spencer presided at the organ.

RECEPTION AT HAMPTON HALL. A reception was held after the ceremony at Hampton Hall, after which the bride and groom left for a honeymoon in the interior of British Columbia. On their return they will be at their home at 332 Walton Street.

Among the many and useful gifts received was a case of cutlery and a sandwich set from the employees of David Spencer's Ltd., where the bride had been a member of the general office, and a silver coffee service from the store department of the British Columbia Coast Steamships, where the groom is employed.

Traveler (at country station, to poster): "Did you label all those bags for Blackpool?"

Porter: "No, I'd do to them all. Brighton. We've run out of labels for Blackpool."

POWER SHOVEL PROVOKES MEN

Province Called On to Mediate in Labor Dispute in Corbin Coal Area

Introduction of a power shovel strip earth from the surface of a coal seam in Corbin, B.C., has caused this violation of their agreement with the company, led to a labor dispute at the Corbin Colliery and calls for Provincial intervention, Hon. W. M. Dennis disclosed yesterday.

As soon as he was notified of the facts, Mr. Dennis sent Adam Bell, Deputy Minister of Labor, to Corbin. He was advised, yesterday, that amicable settlement of the dispute was being arranged.

The miners claimed that the power shovel would displace numbers of men, and that use of the kind of machinery was against the terms of their agreement with the company.

Mr. Bell has reported that both sides are drawing nearer to a settlement, and that a satisfactory outcome of the argument is fully expected.

Coast Riflemen Take Big Share of Money at Dominion Meeting—Desmond Burke Captures Rapid-Firing Event With Fine Score

By HARRY ECOLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

CONNAUGHT RANGES, OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—Two of the week's stiffest competitions of the week were put up at the Connaught Rifle Range today as the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual meeting proceeded.

Just as he did in the Ontario meeting at Long Branch last week, Lieut. Desmond Burke of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, took the honors of the King's Prize, topped off by the rapid firing competition, the Border Memorial here, calling for ten shots within fifty seconds at the 200-yard range. Burke scored 44 out of 50 possible 50.

The Canadian team, in which teams advanced and receded from all ranges to fire at rapidly disappearing targets, was captured by the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry team, which aggregated 322 out of a possible 400 points. Honors in the individual events of both the Bankers' and the Walker Cup matches, were well shared. Sgt. F. V. Sheppard, of Stevenson Place, Ont., former Bisley shot, displayed one of the meeting's nicest exhibitions of marksmanship when he posted a perfect score at both ranges to win the Walker Cup "C" in getting a silver medal and $20.

WINDSOR SHOT WINS
In the Bankers, completed today at 600 yards, H. G. Bass, of Windsor captured first money award of $200, but he had shot at only one of two other marksmen who equalled his 99 out of a possible 100 for the D.R.A.'s Patterson Cup, and the D.R.A.'s silver medal. These are Lieut.-Col. C. W. Gibson, of Hamilton, and Lieut. J. Neal Dow, of Saint John.

Sgt. T. R. Davies, of Vancouver, placed third in the Bankers, with 48 out of a possible 50. Sixth place went to Lieut. G. A. Moley, Major G. C. Holland, 29; Sgt. L. C. Willoughby, 28.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Victoria's riflemen, consisting of a full team of eight, and a larger contingent from the Mainland, will leave the Terminal City tomorrow evening to participate in the Toronto shoot and the Dominion matches to be held at Ottawa. The local marksmen in order to join the main party at Vancouver will leave on the first boat from the city. The shoot is tonight. The complete British Columbia team to follow follows: Sergeant-Major McDougal, 5th Regiment; Sergeant-Major Gaiven, 5th Regiment; Hospital Sergeant Fred Richardson, 5th Regiment; Sergeant Sloan, 6th Regiment, New Westminster; Captain Art McRae, 6th Regiment; Lieutenant Cunningham, 6th Regiment, New Westminster; Lieutenant C. Milne, 6th Regiment. In addition the Victoria body has decided to send five experts, including Sergeant Carr, Trumpeter McDougal, sixteen-year-old sensation; Sergeant Lettie, 6th Regiment, Vancouver; Lieutenant Cunningham, 6th Regiment, New Westminster; Lieutenant C. Milne, 6th Regiment.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Esquimalt Athletic Association took place last night in the Esquimalt and Collier's Home. Q. M. S. Weeks, president, occupied the chair, the most important business being to form a football team to take part in the Victoria and District. The Esquimalt team will be one of the strongest in the league, with such fine experts of the English game as Alex Lockley, Taffy, Sheriff, W. Young, J. Young, Connor, Clarkson, Collier, Findlay, Reid, Partleton, Jasper, Miller, Ishister, Costello, Newlands, and Howden in uniform.

The British Rugby football team now touring Australia and which is scheduled to play Vancouver late next month, while en route to the Old Country will, in all probability, play against Victoria. This announcement was made last night by William C. Moresby, president of the Victoria Rugby League. Moresby made the announcement from Vancouver where he is interviewing Mainland officials concerning the local match. It is hoped that the local party can make arrangements to bring the famous English rugger to the Capital City.

Charles Hyde Is Oldest of List Of the Seniors

CHARLES H. Hyde, Tacoma, is the oldest player on the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association list. It was yesterday worded by Secretary J. V. Perks of the Victoria Golf Club after glancing over the present list of members. The Tacomaan boasts of eighty-five years and is still active and takes a great interest in the tournament's progress. In fact, Mr. Hyde has just arrived at the 100, but he is expected before the meet ends at Oak Bay on Friday. He attended last year at Colwood. Dr. John E. Weeks, Portland, who has four score years behind him, and F. Blanchard, Tacoma, seventy-four years, are attending this year's tournament. Several others are approaching the eighty mark, but their age does not interfere with their golf.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Stock and Bond Prices Drift at New York Mart

NEW YORK. Aug. 15 (CP)—The stock market gave another slow and listless performance, today, with the ticker generally drooping out price changes of fractional unimportance. In Chicago Grain Market, too, trading was inert, and quotations were only slightly awaiting the lifting of price restrictions set for tomorrow. The dollar sold off at the close, while the dollar was firm in foreign exchange dealings. Bonds were irregular and commodities generally steady. Most stocks attracted only meager professional followings.

Even a stronger U.S. dollar attributed partly to the normal seasonal demand to cover Fall commercial transactions and to a lessening of inflationary psychology—created no more than a ripple of interest in the financial community.

WIFE FOR SALE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XVI

About a week after the newspaper story of the lost Ladymoth two callers appeared on the farm, in the late afternoon peace and beauty: two girls, daintily in flowered chiffons and Summer hats, parked a small twinkling car. Norah sat, and came up the garden path. One was a pale, rather unfriendly-looking girl of twenty-eight or nine; the other, a year or two younger, had ringlets bunched on her neck and a round, rosy face upon which was a sweet and sentimental expression.

"You're Miss Oliver?" the older girl asked. She sighed, smiled apologetically. "I'm Hazel Dunamur," she said, extending her hand. "I'm poor Barry's cousin—his only cousin. Wasn't it terrible?"

"Awful." Norah said, nervously indicating the basket chair under the big elm. They sat down.

"This is Miss Swann, Miss Oliver, another person of whom Barry was very fond," Hazel said.

"Please, Miss Swann," the older girl said. She sighed, smiled apologetically. "I'm Hazel Dunamur," she said, extending her hand. "I'm poor Barry's cousin—his only cousin. Wasn't it terrible?"

"Awful." Norah said, nervously indicating the basket chair under the big elm. They sat down.

"This is Miss Swann, Miss Oliver, another person of whom Barry was very fond," Hazel said.

"I think he had a premonition of it," Miss Dunamur said boldly.

"Barry?" Norah asked involuntarily. Instead of answering, Hazel looked at her in surprise.

"Did you know him so well?" she asked abruptly. "You were his secretary, weren't you?"

"I was to be. I hadn't really started. He engaged me in December, and then he went on the twenty-seventh—"

"I know when he went away," Norah said. "It was the closest relative he had."

Norah making no comment on this, she added, "We're at Glen Gardner for the Summer, and I hope to see a great deal of Barry."

"He loved this place," Norah observed mildly.

"You knew," Hazel began directly, her eyes on Norah, "that he had left it to me?"

Norah's heart sank. Foxaway, with its elms, its lawns and fences, its silvered old red and silvered-painted windows, was not longer Norah's but she was Barry's legal wife after all. Hazel knew nothing of that claim.

"I asked him for it, outright," Hazel confessed frankly. "I love the old place—it's the family home, and I don't care if I die on it."

"You wouldn't rent it, I suppose?" Norah asked hesitantly.

"Not for five hundred a month," Hazel answered with a triumphant laugh.

"I've grown fond of it, too," Norah said. "I've got my mother here, and we've been taking it room by room—cleaning it out. We feel as if it were home."

"I'm sorry," Hazel said politely, stifly, with a touch of triumph again in her voice.

"There are books—family letters and diaries here," Norah went on. "We've been straightening it all out."

"My mother and I intend to put everything in order," Hazel countered quickly. "If you'll just leave things as they are—she added significantly. Norah's ready color flamed again.

"Barry—Mr. Dunamur has asked me to get the place ready for him," Hazel said sharply.
